Oh! he's my fag — he gets me my breakfast and such-like, but I attempted to conceal myself."

Small Boy: "That? Oh! he's my fag — he gets me my breakfast and such-like, but I attempted to conceal himself."

Old Gent: "And pray who is your friend with the coffee pot?"

Small Boy: "That? Oh! he's my fag — he gets me my breakfast and such-like, but I attempted to conceal himself."

Just to show how one thing leads to another—Mr. Briggs (who has come out on the leads while the men are gone to dinner) is shown by the builder how it would be the easiest thing in the world to "throw" his passage into his dining room, and build a new entrance hall with a slight conservatory over it.—To the right of the cartoon is Mrs. Briggs (who thinks Mr. B. has taken leave of his senses).

INNOCENT AND AMUSING LITTLE TRICK FOR LITTLE BOYS.

An old lady is crossing the street, when a little boy shouts out—"Hi!" at the top of his voice. The old lady (although indeed there is no real cause for alarm) starts, and becomes greatly agitated, and imagines that she is run over by an omnibus. This is an exceedingly pleasant trick.

SOLICITUDE.

Child (screaming and without any stop), "Manner mamma ye'll tresome; haggerwatin' little ussia come out of the road do with yer little brother did yer want to be runned over by omnibuses and killed dead oh dear oh dear who'd be a husst?"

ANOTHER.

This is equally diverting. A little boy rushes by an old gentleman and "yowls" like a dog. The old gentleman is terrified beyond measure. If at the same time the little boy should also pinch the leg of the old gentleman, the force of the joke is much heightened; but then indeed he must have courage, and be very adroit, or he may chance to get a great bang from an umbrella or stick.

AN HOUR'S RIDE.
MR. TOM NODDY'S FIRST DAY WITH THE HOUNDS.

No. XII.

Fortunately for Tom Noddy, however, the mare swerves at the hurdles, and with the exception of dropping his whip again, he meets with no great inconvenience.

No. XIII.

But coming to the first fence, the playful creature goes at it like a shot out of a gun.

MR. TOM NODDY'S FIRST DAY WITH THE HOUNDS.

No. XV.

The mare extricates herself from the difficulty sooner than our little friend, and getting away from him, takes a line of her own.

No. XVI.

T. N. finds running after his quadruped very laborious. He rests himself on a stile, and has another quiet weed.

No. XVII.

This represents the precise moment when Tom Noddy, after much exercise, meets a simple countryman returning with the mare. The simple countryman is assuring T. N. that he had a deal of trouble to catch her, and then it wur twenty minutes afore he could make her leave the 'ounds—and then only 'cause she wur quite "blowed." (N.B. The simple countryman hopes T. N. will remember him.)

AN INCIDENT OF TRAVEL.

As the train stops, Mr. P. endeavours to get some stout for his wife, who, from circumstances, is obliged to drink that refreshing beverage four or five times a-day. Unfortunately Mr. P. cannot find his carriage, and, as the train is rather behind time, the officials are in some hurry and confusion.

LET US HAVE JAPANESE MANNERS AND CUSTOMS HERE.

"The traveller, wearied with the noonday heat, need never be at a loss to find rest and refreshment; stretched upon the softest and cleanest of matting, inhaling the most delicately flavoured tea, inhaling the fragrant tobacco of Japan, he resigns himself to the ministrations of a bevy of fair damsels, who glide rapidly and noiselessly about, the most zealous and skilful of attendants."—THiRES.
